The Intelligencer.

OFFICE, 25 & 27 Fourteenth St MONDAY, JUNE 15, 1874.

FROM CHARLESTON.

CHARLESTON, June 8, 1874. special Correspondence of the Intelligencer.)
To begin with, the weather is remark-bly warm. The thermometer has avably warm. The thermometer has averaged the past five days 92 in the shade. There has been little rain in Kanawha Valley for over a month, the result of which can be seen on the crops. The earth is literally parched and is getting dryer and hotter every day. Unless it rains son, there will be no cats, grass or corn worth harvesting. The wheat crop, however, notwithstanding the drought is promising.

Finances are tighter in this valley than at any time since the panic set in, and yet a large number of permanent improvements are being made at the "Fernanent Best" in the way of new business houses and residences. There are no less than ten brick store rooms going up, most of them three stories high. Where the money comes from to erect these buildings, I can not conjecture, as it is impossible to collect bills against parties for the necessary comforts of life. The growth of Charleston seems to be sleady and pesitive. We expect to be a large city some tiva. We expect to be a large city some of these years, and then we can afford to pay you Wheeling gentlemen back in your burlesques on the Capitol removal

OUR FOUR GOVERNORS.

Our four Governors seem to be dwelling together harmoniously. Arkansas got up a war when she only had two Governors; yet West Virginia can boast of four Executives, and yet no sign of war or, bloodshed disturbs or ruffied our peaceful sky. This is probably accounted for because of the fact that there is no money in the Etate Treasury. Were it in the condition that it was when it was turned over by the "Radicala" to the Democrats, four years ago, no doubt patriotic blood would have flowed as profusely as lager beer before the woman crusade.

In Arkansas there was money in the Treasury, and each faction was determined to hold the bag that contained it, Bence the war between the two B.'s that OUR POUR GOVERNORS.

ed to hold the beg that contained it, hence the war between the two B.'s that has digrasced the nation. Very soon, however, we must expect a rebellion in the now quiet camp. A United States Benator is to be elected soon, and both sides already have their scouts out in all directions. When they come together, somebody necessarily will get hurt, or scared, or something else. THE NEXT U. S. SENATOR.

Bigskipg of the Senatorial canvass reminds us of the probable successor to Mr. Boreman. Should the Legislature be Republican, Mr. B. will likely be his own successor, but in case it is of the Bourbon casts, the fight will be between "Jonce" Camden and Henry B. Walker, Henry is really the man, if he can only stay away from Moundaville. His trial comes up next week, and if he gets his dues he will be required to refund $57,000 of fill-gotten gains in the public printing, or otherwise spend a season or two with Lesisher Bridges at the Indian-mound.

WALKER'S GRIP ON THE BOURDANS. WALEER'S GRIP ON THE BOURDONS.

Notwithstanding Henry's wholesale frauds against the State, he has a powerful grip on the Bourbon politicians, and will demonstrate his power when the Legislature convenes. "Jonce' has a fair show of success, because he has the smilly Senator at work for him. Deviate salow of success, occases he has the smil-ing Senator, at work for him. Davis is willy and tricky, and never has failed yet; besides, he has plenty of money to buy in yotes and pay for speeches for Senatorial purposes. "Jonee" himself, has an un-timited supply of greenbacks and oil wells, which he will no doubt use to for-ward his interests and indeing from ward his interests; and, judging from present indications, he will have to plank liberally to secure a Bourbon Legisla up liberally to secure a Bourbon Legisla-ture. The people are beginning to see the cloven foot of the corrupt Democracy, and it left to themselves, would elect all ringsters to back seats. The idea of talk-ing of Gov. Price, C. J. Faulkner, G. D. Camden and A. T. Caperton for the Sen-ale is absurd; neither of them will more than control their own counts delegates. than control their own county delegates.
The fight is between Walker and J. N.
Camden. Walker has the brains and the check; Camden has the money and endurance. We will see who will win.

THIRD DISTRICT CONGRESSIONAL MAT-The Democratic Executive Committee The Democratic Executive Committee for this Congressional District mast here a short time since, and called the Convention for the 5th of August in this city. This was done by Hereford's friends in order to kill off Kenns, Snyder and other whose whose statements are the statements. ers, who are at this time prominent candi-dates, and build up Herelord, who for the past few weeks has been on a rising tide. Hereford is getting stronger every day past lew weeks has been on a rising tide. Hereford is getting stronger every day, and by the time the Convention meets will win beyond any doubts. Frank is reaping the benefits of the $4,600 that he got from the U.S. Tressury and donated to the poor children of the State for educations.

PRESIDENT GRANT'S PROPOSED VISIT TO HERE'S YOUR TEA. THE VALLEY.

Since writing the above I see by the Uncinnati Commercial that President Grant contemplates a visit to the Permanent of Congress, which you are aware takes piace on the 32d inst. He comes to Charleston to visit his relatives, among whom is our distinguished fellow citizen Col. T. B. Swann. As this will be the first visit from the executive of the nation of course Charleston feels herself highly complimented, and will do her level best to extend to him a hearty and approto extend to him a hearty and appro-priate welcome. It you Wheeling gestle-men have any aspirations for place or power at the disposal of His Excellency, come down to the Permanent Seat and perchance you can whisper a word of re-commendation into his always open ears. Will give you particulars of his visit.

Cremation. (Persifer Frazer in the Penn Monthly for June, By burial we do not immediately, and probably never in the most desirable way restore to the earth the material we have taken from her, as was the opinion of Thales; or if we did, it is hardly to be denied that it is just as wise to restore these elements to the atmosphere whence they elements to the atmosphere whence they are taken by our intermediators with the earth—the plants. There are three ways of accomplishing the purpose of disposing of the dead with care to avoid injury to the living. One is burial under proper restrictions, one is decomposition by chemical agents; and the last is by burning. The second of these may be dismissed as at once revolting and impracticable, and we are left to consider the advantages of burial and burning. If we rigidly adhere to the plan of choosing that method which first shall be safest; second, shall prevent all korrible and ghastly seenes and the descention of the dead; third, which shall restore to nature most expeditionally the little store of her materials which shall restore to nature most expeditionally the little store of her materials hald in trust for a few years, we must unheattatingly give the preference to burning. Here nothing is left to chance—not even resuscitation. There are no horrid exchunations and mangling of remains; no poisoning of wells; no generation of low fevers and disgusting insects. The body, if not the soil, files heavenward and leaves a trifling residue of white bone earth behind.

Partition I have a company to the Boiler Incrustation.

The following remedies have been used, with varying success, to prevent the inrustation of boilers: 1. Potatoes, in weight one fiftieth par that of the water, prevent the adherence

2. 13 parts of salt, 21 parts of caustic ods, 2 part of extract of bark, 2 part of potash.

3. Pieces of oak-wood, suspended in the boiler and renewed monthly.
4. 2 ounces of muriste of ammonia in the boiler twice a week.
5. A coating, consisting of three parts of black-lead and 18 parts of tallow, applied hot to the inside of the boiler every

6. 121 lbs. of molasses, fed into an 8 corse boiler at intervals, prevented incrus-7. Mahogany or oak sawdust in small quantities. Use this with caution, as the nnic acid attracts iron.

8. Carbonate of soda.

9. Slippery-elm bark.
10. Chloride of tin.
11. Spent tanners' bark.
12. Frequent blowing off.

"Is You a Friend ob de Culluc Man?" "Here's your nice roast chicken!" cried

"Here's your nice roast chicken !" cried an aged colored man as the cars stopped at a North Carolina railway station.
"Here's your nice roast chick'n 'n taters, all nice and hot," holding up his plate and walking the platform.
"Where did you get that chicken, uncle?" asked a passenger.
Uncle looked at the interrogator sharply, and then turned away, crying: "Here's yer nice roast chick'n genti'm'n, all hot; needn't go in the house for dat.
"Where did you get that chickes?" repeated the inquisitivo passenger.
"Look-ryer," says uncle, speaking privately, "is you from de Norf?"
"Yes,"
"Is you a friend ob de cullud man?"

"Is you a friend ob de cullud man?"
"I hope I am." "Den don't you nebber ask me where got that chick'n agin. Here's yer nice roast chick'n, all hot." The train started.
